Russian Troops Seen South Of Yalu River, Says Surrendered Red

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

SEOUL, Korea—(P)—A surrendered North Korean security officer told in an interview today of seeing Russian troops at an airfield south of the Yalu River in North Korea.

Lt. Lee Dong Yop said he saw about 20 Russians dressed in Chinese Communist uniforms at Sunjuin Airfield in June, 1951. He said he understood they installed anti-aircraft guns at the Red airfield, but that he did not know whether they remained to fire them.

Deserted Sept. 5

The lieutenant was Communist security officer at the Panmunjom armistice talks until he deserted Sept. 5, 1952.

He related also that he had heard of a Soviet pilot flying Communist jets in June, 1951, and of two last spring.

The 29-year-old North Korean spoke to Allied correspondents through an interpreter at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters. He calmly answered questions during a 90-minute session.

The North Korean officer said he had heard Russian advisers are attached to the North Korean Army officers school and were sent to various government ministries in North Korea after the outbreak of the war.

Pilots Talk Russian

Eighth Army officers did not say whether they believed the officer.

The Communists have consistently maintained that only the Chinese people's "volunteers" and North Korean troops are fighting in Korea except for a small Hungarian medical unit.

Auto Collision Takes 4 Lives

PORLTAND, Mich.—(P)—Four persons, including the mother of two children, were killed and three others injured early today in a two-car collision at an intersection three miles west of here.

Ionia County Sheriff Loyola Hodson identified the victims as Mrs. Carol Cooper, 20, of Grand Rapids; Elbe Bishop, 40, of Grand Rapids; Joanne Schater, 22, of Fowler; and Edwin Weber, 23, also of Fowler.

Seriously injured in the accident was Beverly Lehman, no age available, of Portland. She was taken to St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing.

Also hospitalized were Jerome Schater, 18, a cousin of Joanne, and Mark Schafer, 19, her brother, both of Fowler.

Hodson said the two cars collided on a curve near the intersection of Portland Road and US-16. He said the position of the wreckage made it difficult to determine the circumstances of the accident.

Mrs. Cooper had taken her two children, Debora, 3, and Jerry Lynn, 1, to her mother's house in Ionia a short time before the accident.

Crash Kills Four

TOKYO (P)—A U. S. Air Force B26 light bomber crashed last night in Southern Japan killing three crewmen and a passenger, the Far East Air Force said.

Three bodies have been recovered, the Air Force said.

Names of the victims are being withheld.

Football Player Shot In Detroit

DETROIT (P)—An 18-year old high school football player was shot to death last night in an after-game argument with another youth.

Police said James Motton, a 205-pound guard on the Northeastern High football squad, was killed instantly by six bullets fired from a car parked near his home.

Authorities said Charles Goodloe, 17, a former student at Northeastern, admitted shooting Motton. Goodloe was arrested in Maumee, O., two hours after the slaying.

The football player was slain while he was walking home with a companion after a night game with Pershing High school.

His companion, Edward Sawyer, 18, said Motton and Goodloe had argued about the game in a neighborhood restaurant and that Motton had struck Goodloe in the face.

Sawyer said he and Motton were walking towards the football player's home when Goodloe's car pulled up on the other side of the street.

He said Motton told him to wait "while I see what's bothering him now."

Sawyer said Goodloe fired as Motton started to cross the street. Four bullets struck the player in the legs, others hit him in the left side and right shoulder. Then the car sped away, he said.

State Pays Balance To Schools; General Fund On Increase

LANSING (P)—With a payment totaling $14,440,314, the state today has paid up the balance of the primary school interest fund due local schools, Auditor General John B. Martin Jr. said today.

The $28,820,000 payment was Sept. 12, but because of a shortage of cash in the state general fund, only half of it could be paid at the time.

The late payment leaves the general fund with a balance of $7,230,561, Martin reported. He added that sales tax, cigarette tax and liquor revenue is expected to increase the general fund to some $18,000,000 at the end of September.

Martin said he believed October, November and December obligations of the state could be paid on time.

Alger Branded School Raider

By The Associated Press Bay City hurled the challenge: Ann Arbor vowed "We'll make 'em look sick!"—but Lansing so far is leading Michigan's 1952 Ballot Derby.

The race, in case you're perplexed, is that between 13 medium-sized Michigan cities for two plagues to be awarded by the Bay City Times.

One is for the city achieving the highest percentage of registered voters. The other is for that with the biggest percentage of ballots in the November election. Both percentages are figured by populations.

When Mayor Elford Cederberg of Bay City issued the challenge, the results were resounding. Mayors of cities all over the state thundered acceptances, such as the one quoted above from Ann Arbor.

Now, with only a week to go before the Oct. 6 deadline for registration, Lansing appears to be leading the pack for at least one of the plagues.

The Capitol City, with a population of 92,129, has 39,154 registered voters. That gives her a percentage of 64.2. The only serious challenger at the moment appears to be Dearborn. Early this month Dearborn reported 56,677 registered voters against a population of 94,529—a percentage of 59.9.

255 Students In School Bands

There must be something about blowing a horn that fascinates youngsters.

This year a fifth of the student enrollment at Escanaba Junior High School is participating in the band program.

Not only are JHS students going in for it though. In addition to the 142 in the JHS band, there are 60 in the senior band, and 53 sixth graders learning to toot the horns and beat the drum.

Bob Meyer, director of music in the public schools, says 255 public school students are in the school bands. Meyer handles all band work in the schools.

Parents of students in the school bands, who belong to the Escanaba Band Boosters association, will hear the two Junior High School bands Wednesday, Oct. 8. The student musicians will play for a half hour before the regular meeting of the association.

In addition, the bands will play a half-hour program for JHS students the same day. The student program is scheduled for 1:15 p. m., and the parents' program for 8 p. m. The public is invited to both. There is no admission charge.

Band students at all grade levels rehearse daily.

Parents of band members have included in their activities sponsorship of appearance of the U. S. Marine band, the U. S. Navy band and, with the help of the U. of M. Alumni club, the University of Michigan band.

SONG OF THE RAILS—Anna Steinhof uses a tuning fork to test the pitch of one of the North Western Railway's new 5-chime musical air horns. With ninety new diesel locomotives being delivered to the North Western this year, the "song of the rails" is acquiring a new note in the interest of harmony as well as safety and the diesel locomotive seems to have acquired a "voice" as distinctive to its day as the "whistle in the night" was yesterday. The air chime sounds an A-major Seventh Chord (C-Sharp, E, G, A, and C-Sharp).

There's New Music In The Song Of The Rails

With some ninety new diesel electric locomotives being delivered to the Chicago and North Western Railway this year, the klang horn of rail diesel progress is being supplanted by a musical air chime.

In the case of the class passenger trains, this air chime is actually a musical chord, a five-chime chord, keyed tonally to an A-Major Seventh Chord with the notes C-sharp, E, G, A, and C-sharp.

Even the work horse of the high iron has taken on a new glamor. Road switchers and freight engines are being equipped with an M-3R1 three chime whistle (C-sharp, E and A).

(Off the record, they're even testing a 7-chime air horn on one of the diesel units the streamliner City of Denver. There isn't much data available on this yet, but it indicates the extent to which the railway is willing to go in the interests of harmony as well as safety).

Resisted Impulse

Some of the first air chimes were delivered to the railway just in time for the Ravinia Music Festival in Chicago this summer. The outdoor concert area is located near the North Western's busy Milwaukee division tracks on the north side of Chicago. Each year the Ravinia Festival committee

Girl Scouts Get 2-Year Charter

The Delta County Girl Scout Council has received the first two-year charter granted to it by the national Girl Scout organization.

Charters are given to councils on the basis of volume of membership, number of volunteer leaders, number of troops, and the quality of the program provided for the girls of the community or area.

Previously, charters were issued to local Scout groups on a 12-month basis but a new plan adopted at the organization's most recent national convention held in Boston, Mass., late in 1951, authorized the extension of the charter period to qualified councils so they might have the advantage of a longer planning period.

According to Mrs. L. K. Hillewaert, Gladstone, Girl Scouting in Delta county has grown since its first charter was granted in 1949 to a current membership of 370. Stress is being placed on such activities as camping, civil defense, first aid, homemaking, and others as part of the organization's effort to give girls both practical and psychological skills that will help them weather the uncertainties and stresses of life in the modern world.

The new charter, signed by the national president, Mrs. Roy F. Layton, is granted in the name of the Girl Scout national board of directors. It not only authorizes the Council to promote and carry on Girl Scouting in its prescribed jurisdiction, but also entitles it to have delegates to the National Council, Girl Scouts of the U. S. A., which determines the organization's policies and procedures.

Observe Bible Week With Service Here On Tuesday

A community-wide service on Tuesday evening, Sept. 30, is planned in Escanaba to honor the publication of the new Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible. On the same evening similar interchurch meetings will be held in at least 3,000 other communities throughout the United States and Canada.

Charters are given to councils on the basis of volume of membership, number of volunteer leaders, number of troops, and the quality of the program provided for the girls of the community or area.

Previously, charters were issued to local Scout groups on a 12-month basis but a new plan adopted at the organization's most recent national convention held in Boston, Mass., late in 1951, authorized the extension of the charter period to qualified councils so they might have the advantage of a longer planning period.

The program will include a procession and recessional of the clergy and combined choirs, reading a portion of the new Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible along with similar readings from the Hebrew, Greek and Latin languages and from the major English translations, an address by Rev. Joseph Dickson, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, on the Observance theme, "The Word of Life in Living Language," presentation of five copies of the new Bible to representative persons, and a litany of thanksgiving and dedication.

"The completion of the Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible marks an epoch in the religious life of the English-speaking peoples comparable to that marked by the issuance of the King James Version in 1611," stated Mr. Bowen.

"Recognizing the need for a new version, the former International Council of Religious Education, representing 40 major denominations in the U. S. and Canada, authorized a revision and appointed a committee of 32 eminent Bible scholars to study all the past versions as well as all the available manuscripts in order to prepare a revision of the King James and the American Standard Versions that would present the word of God accurately and in good English for twentieth century readers," Mr. Bowen continued.

To accomplish this gigantic task, received his training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He will be met in Green Bay Sunday by his wife, who has been making her home here with her mother, Mrs. Mary McCausley, 114 North 13th street, and by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Molin Sr. of 912 South 18th street.

Michigan GOP Scents Victory

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Republicans are beginning to scent victory in November.

VIEWS AIRED ON FISH PROBLEM

GRAND MARAIS—The interim sub-committee of the fish and fisheries division of the State Legislature met Thursday evening with the fisherman of Grand Marais and surrounding towns at the VFW Hall. The purpose of the committee was to obtain the views and opinions of the fisherman, commercial and sport roller alike in order to introduce concurrent legislation providing for a special joint legislative committee to study the fishing resources of the Great Lakes and to report the need of a sound policy with respect to fisheries of the Great Lakes.

The committee consisted of Chairman John W. Wood, state representative from Manistique, Rep. Hugh Nelson, Indian River and Sen. William Ellsworth, St. Ignace. Also attending the meeting was James Scully, Conservation Dept., Fish Division from Marquette, George Marolf, journal clerk, House of Representatives and Lloyd Lemmon, legislative technician from Lansing.

SEEK EARLIER CLOSING

The first of the Grand Marais fisherman to express his views on the subject was Alfred Lundquist Sr., better known in the community as "Captain Grump." Mr. Lundquist who fished commercially for many years and has been a sport troller for the last 13 years, was spokesman for the sport-trollers of Grand Marais. The main point stressed was for a longer and earlier "closed season" to allow the fish to spawn properly. The second main point was for the replenishing of the fish by the conservation department. The third point brought out by the trollers was the setting out of separate ground for the trollers and the possibility of the big commercial fish companies being stopped from fishing too many gangs and too big mesh nets; this last point to be settled mainly by the commercial fisherman and the sport trollers themselves.

Speaking for the commercial fisherman, Farmer Masse, who has fished commercially for 35 years out of this harbor, also stressed the need for an earlier closed season. Mr. Masse explained to the committee what took place during the spawning season, and why it is necessary for an earlier date on the closed season. He recommended the season to close as of October 1, and to remain closed until November 15. He also stressed the need for the replenishing of fish by the conservation department and cited from experience the results of such a replenishing years ago. He stated how the fingerlings planted then resulted in the best years fishing he ever had, four years later, Capt. Masse and Capt. Lundquist disagreed on the question of whether or not it should be necessary for sport trollers to obtain a separate fishing license. Capt. Lundquist maintained that since 95% of the sport trollers hold anglers license that should be all that is necessary.

LAMPREY NOT SERIOUS

Craig Olson from Shelter Bay, representing the Lake Superior Sport Trollers Association, a newly organized group whose aim is to coordinate the conservation efforts of trollers of the Upper Peninsula, Ontario and Wisconsin to conserve the remaining supply of lake trout also agreed on the unified closing of the season in order for the fish to spawn properly, fingerling planting and the setting aside of designated areas for the sport trolling and commercial fishermen. Another point brought up by all of the men was the lamprey problem, though they were all agreed that it has not been too serious or the lamprey too plentiful in Lake Superior up to date.

Out of town fisherman attending the meeting were A. P. Scrape With Bridge Leads To Mast Cut

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—When the big Japanese tanker, Tonan Maru, first visited this port on her maiden voyage she carried a tall, 173-foot mast left over from her whaling days. Later when the tanker put into San Francisco Bay, riding high without ballast, she struck the Carquinez Bridge with the mast, scaring motorists.

When the Tonan Maru visited the Pacific Coast again recently the old whaling mast was 20 feet shorter.

Is Stevenson Ready To Explain Fund?

GOV. Stevenson finally has decided to speak up about the fund that he created to supplement salaries of some of his state appointees.

The furore that arose over the disclosure of the Nixon expense account has naturally centered public attention upon Gov. Stevenson's special fund.

Until now the governor has stated the fund is nobody's business and that he was not going to explain it to anyone. In contrast, Sen. Nixon not only revealed who all the contributors to his own fund were, but he also told how the money was spent and, further, he outlined to the nation the status of his personal finances.

Constant needling by the Republicans, plus the natural desire by voters in general for a better explanation of the Stevenson fund evidently has convinced Gov. Stevenson that he should give a better explanation than he has done thus far.

The governor will be expected to tell the size of the fund, from whom it was collected, who received the money and how it was spent. Any explanation that fails to provide this information will be less than satisfactory.

King Solomon: A Glory That Faded

The downfall in tragedy of Saul, first king of Israel, was clear and unmistakable. He died a suicide on the battlefield, in a disastrous rout of the army of Israel. The descent from glory of Solomon, third and last king of a united Israel, may not be so apparent, but it was none the less real.

For rebellion and division followed swift upon the end of Solomon's reign of apparent glory; and the rebellion was definitely associated with the reign of Solomon. It was the demand of the people that Rehoboam, Solomon's son and successor, should lighten their burdens, and Rehoboam's refusal, that brought back Jeroboam from Egypt to lead the successful rebellion in which ten tribes revolted to form the Northern Kingdom.

The story is told in I Kings Chapter 12, how Rehoboam took counsel from two groups older men and younger men. Rejecting the wise counsel of the older men to ease the people's burdens and rule justly, he followed the counsel of the young hotheads.

"My father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions," said Rehoboam.

It was a far cry from the wisdom with which Solomon had begun his reign (I Kings 3:4-9). But when Rehoboam began his reign with such incredible folly, wrecking the kingdom that David and Solomon had built up and consolidated in strength, leaving him only two tribes to rule as the Kingdom of Judah, it must not be forgotten it was the burdens that Solomon imposed upon the people that caused the discontent.

People will stand for a great deal if there is a tradition of wisdom and a show of glamor attached to it. It was a tribute to Solomon that the kingdom of Israel remained strong and united as long as he lived. Nevertheless, it was Solomon who sowed the seeds of that latent, seething discontent that broke out in rebellion so soon after his death when Rehoboam's perversity brought about the climax of disaster.

That was all the disaster in that immediate division of the Twelve Tribes of Israel. That was only the beginning. In a shorter period than the entire history of America since its discovery by Columbus, both kingdoms into which the Kingdom of Solomon was divided ceased to exist.

The Kingdom of Israel, Northern Kingdom of the Ten Tribes, was conquered and destroyed by the Assyrians in 722 B. C. Its people were the "lost ten tribes" of history.

In 586 B. C. the Southern Kingdom of Judah was conquered by the Babylonians and its people carried into exile (See II Kings Chapter 25, and the 137th Psalm).

So the era of peace and Solomon's glory did not last long. A new glory of the prophets arose but the history of Israel from the days of Solomon was of mingled good and deep evil, of lofty faith and vision and of great suffering.

From the career of Solomon, as from that of the tragic Saul, comes the enforcement of a later warning by a great Israelite: "Let him that thinketh he standeth, take heed lest he fall."

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A bitter power struggle is going on aboard the Eisenhower train. It's the usual struggle to get close to the man who may be the next President—except that its roots go deep down inside the Republican party.

The struggle is between Arthur Summerfield, old-guard pro-Taft chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Governor Sherman Adams, who soundly defeated Taft in the first primary in the nation—New Hampshire's.

Ordinarily the national chairman of either party seldom travels on a campaign train with the presidential candidate. It's a duplication of effort. He stays at headquarters to direct 48 different state campaigns and supervise national strategy. This is a backbreaking job and the man who does it has to be near the telephone 24 hours a day, not on a train where he can be reached only two or three times a day.

However, Senator Taft, the man behind Chairman Summerfield, privately advised him: "You can't control a candidate unless you're with him."

So Taft urged that Summerfield stick closer to the train, which is what the chairman is doing.

Behind this is: 1. Taft's resentment against Gov. Adams, the man who beat him in New Hampshire; 2. The isolationist issue which runs deep through the party.

Taft leads the isolationists; Gov. Adams is a leader of the internationalists.

So what Taft is trying to do is push Adams out of the picture. Right now he is engaged in putting another Taft friend on the Eisenhower strategy board. This is in accordance with the agreement reached with Eisenhower at Morningside Heights, when the general offered to put a Taft representative on his board. At first Taft offered the position to his cousin, Dave Ingalls, but Dave declined. Now Taft wants Paul Walter, one of Taft's campaign managers in Ohio.

Note—it's interesting that Summerfield, long a power in Michigan politics, originally battled at the Michigan State Republican convention for Taft. But he switched to Eisenhower when General Motors, with which he is connected as a Chevrolet dealer, turned on the heat. As a result, Summerfield was one of the key men in delivering the Chicago convention to the general, but now he is back with his old love—Taft. "A politician, like a leopard," remarked one GOP observer, "doesn't change its spots."

BYRNES AND ADLAI

Governor Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina, who recently swore off Stevenson, is the man who first recommended Stevenson to Jack Arvey of Chicago. At a luncheon on Capitol Hill in the summer of 1947 Jimmy Byrnes told Arvey:

"There is a great Democrat in Illinois right under your nose. His name is Adlai Stevenson."

"Stevenson? Who's he?" replied Jack Arvey.

Byrnes, who served as war mobilizer, got to know Stevenson when he was assistant to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and later worked in the State Department.

WHISTLESTOPPING WITH EISENHOWER

Ohio Republicans clambered aboard the Eisenhower bandwagon as it rolled across the Buckeye state—but not until their political chief, Senator Bob Taft, got on first.... The two Tafts, Bob and Charlie, almost stole the show away from Eisenhower. At many stops, Bob got a bigger roar out of the crowd. And Charlie, running for governor, outgrinned the general.... Remarked Mayor James Rhodes of Columbus in the celebrities' car: "Dave Ingalls and Paul Walter (Taft's Chicago campaign managers) have taken off their black arm bands.... The big Taft party, which had been snapped shut after Taft lost the nomination, has also been pried open. The Ohio money raisers reported privately to Eisenhower aboard the train that the state had just about met its campaign quota. Yet less than three weeks ago, the same money raisers could hardly find an Eisenhower nickel in Ohio.... One interesting figure who slipped aboard the Eisenhower train in Ohio was Harvey Firestone, Jr. In the celebrities' car, Senator Taft ribbed the state GOP chairman, Ray Bliss, about his feud with Ohio's congressman-at-large, George Bender. The two tangled at an Eisenhower banquet over a month ago, but the feud is still hot. When the Eisenhower train pulled into Bender's home town, Cleveland, Bliss started looking for an exit that would take him around Bender.

The cutting of Maine's largest pine is almost sure to bring patronizing comparisons with some of the woodland giants which have been felled in the Douglas fir or other forests of the Pacific Northwest—not to mention the redwood trees of 300 feet or more in height which have been saved from the ax in California.

A 150-foot pine tree, of course, is more or less the kind Paul Bunyan would have chosen for a toothpick—but that reminds us, didn't we promise we would chop out that inch-and-a-half maple sapling alongside the arborvitae when it came time to prune the shrubbery this fall?

At the bathing beauty shows an awful lot of it certainly does.

Peninsula Best Spot For Hunting Lodge, Writing Couple Claim

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Michigan has won a popularity contest as the best place to build a model hunting lodge.

Jane and Woodrow Jarvis, former man-and-wife New York City newspaper team, built the lodge for the magazine Mechanix Illustrated in an isolated area of the Upper Peninsula early this year.

"We presumed a model hunting lodge should have lots of water

Proposal No. 3 Support Urged

IONIA (AP) — Michigan's decision on reapportionment will be its most important verdict in the Nov. 4 elections, an advocate of Proposal No. 3 told a local audience.

Stanley Powell, Ionia County farmer and longtime lobbyist for the Michigan Farm Bureau, spoke at a meeting which kicked off a pre-election drive by the Michigan Committee for a Balanced Legislation, sponsor of Proposal No. 3.

"We can correct our mistakes on officials at the next election," Powell said. "There may never be another opportunity to vote again on reapportionment."

Two such proposals will be on the election ballot.

The CIO backs Proposal No. 2, and Powell, member of the State Fair board of managers, said:

"The CIO controls the executive office now. Just think what would happen if they get control of the legislature also."

Powell said Proposal No. 3 is based on population control of the House and a combination of both population and area control of the Senate.

He said No. 2 governs membership in both chambers strictly by population and therefore would make urban counties dominant in the legislature.

"The one thing we want to remember," Powell said, "is whether we want more of the type of members in our legislature as we now have from the four counties which would dominate the legislature under the CIO plan." These counties he named as Wayne, Genesee, Oakland and Macomb.

Tourist Year Was Big For Michigan

By Web McKinney

Michigan's summer romance with the tourist dollar is over now. But leave us not sigh for the forgotten playgrounds of July. In the words of the poet—they never had it so good.

The first reports are coming in of Michigan's summer tourist season, and they indicate it was strictly a success story—probably the best ever.

Motels' Kept Full

An Associated Press survey of all sections of the state got these reports:

Tourist business overwhelmingly good. Thirty-five per cent above and recent years."

Motels in our area have been full all the time. Restaurants report very good business."

"Last summer the biggest summen in total dollar volume that the tourist business has ever experienced in Michigan."

"Twenty per cent greater than any previous year."

Frank Davis, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association, made a "rock-bottom estimate" that business in his large area of eastern and northern Michigan was nine per cent better than last year's.

Hot Weather Helps

Spot checks in the area showed increases from five to 40 per cent.

That, reported Davis, "would make this last summer the biggest summer in total dollar volume that the tourist business has ever experienced in Michigan."

He attributed part of this jump to the hot weather in metropolitan areas. He showed weather bureau figures that there were 30 days during June, July and August when the temperature was 90 degrees or above. In the same period of '51 there were only nine such days.

That would tend to drive people northward.

But there was more. People, it seemed, are coming to Michigan from more distant points than ever before. In 1947 Michigan had most travel inquiries from Ohio, Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana and California, in that order.

Texas Interested

But in '52 most inquiries came from, first New York, then Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, California and Indiana. Even Texans were beginning to show interest.

Nixon's Speech Will Help GOP

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK — Dick Nixon stripped himself naked for all the world to see, and he brought the missus and the kids and the dog and his war record into the act. Your stomach squirmed a bit, perhaps in shared embarrassment, for what the candidate-on-the-spot was doing was a Morris Plan exposure of his right to run for vice-president with a whammy of ordinary indebtedness over his head.

The sophisticates, the dwellers in big cities who live off expense accounts and accrued wealth before present taxes, would be inclined to sneer at Nixon's frank abasement over the huge seeing eye of television. Already the left-handed press is calling his performance a soap opera, and in a way the left-handed press is right.

But what the bitter wits and the cynics and the easy rich would not admit without careful thought is the fact that the average man and woman in this country live a soap-opera existence. That is to say that ordinary people travel from crisis to crisis, with bills unpaid, with depthless emergencies when the kids are sick, with hopeless trouble when the fences fall or when the house burns down.

A Human Quality

You have found nobody in the mass knocking Nixon for his awkwardly frank dissection of his own financial self in rebuttal of the suggestion that he used a privately furnished slush fund to enrich himself. The stark rundown of his household budget was all too familiar to all the people like us—the folks who have had to write down on paper for the bankers' sharp eyes all we owned, owed, and hoped to borrow.

This came closer to humanizing the Republican party than anything that has happened in my memory. Herbert Hoover and Calvin Coolidge always seemed unreal to the ordinary stiff. Mr. Thomas Dewey never seemed to share much of the problems of the ordinary Joe. Even the immensely popular Gen. Eisenhower has not been as you and I—he has been surrounded by the aura of a multi-starred general, a sort of superman whose basic needs were tended by the War Department.

Bob Taft had a president for a father, and money of his own. Gen. MacArthur is nearly a deity, due to his protracted service on a high plane in the country's wars. Wendell Willkie never seemed to take much tangible shape, either. When Harold Ickes called him a barefoot boy from Wall St. he slew him in the political cradle.

The big feit of the Democrats has been a grandstand play to the common man—little you, little me. Harry Truman, a common man, pandered to the little-man concept and whipped the starchy Dewey in a campaign in which coarse vulgarity outweighed common sense, and large appeal to small problems outlasted small appeal to large problems.

Tuesday night the nation saw a little man, squirming his way out of a dilemma, and laying bare his most-private hopes, fears and liabilities. This time the common man was a Republican, for a change. This was a man who was daring for huge office while encumbered with all the personal liabilities that afflict us today.

Appeal To Voters

Here was an earnest young man who was having trouble meeting taxes and the grocery bill, and who was forced to admit it. Here was a guy who was hit on the head with a sudden disaster that could kill his career. Here was a boy who was suddenly laying it all out on the table for everybody to look at. It must have hurt. Nobody likes to drag his wife and kids and dog and wear record into a defensive act.

But once in while you got to. I have, and I expect that you have, both of us to a minor degree. And it never comes out glib. It comes out mawkish and dry-lipped and possibly corny, because human disaster is never subtle. I can think of nothing less suave than birth, death, and sudden panic. My innards knotted for Nixon, and I blushed as I have blushed when the characters in a movie or play suddenly seem hopelessly trapped into gaucherie.

But the voting people bought it. They recognized it. They appreciated it. And they applauded it. My guess is that Dick Nixon, if he is playing it square, hasn't hurt his party's chances. He has instead lent the Republicans a little honest sweat and fear and desperation. He has suddenly placed the burden of old-style Republican aloofness and glibness on Democratic Adlai Stevenson—who hasn't yet explained his unauthorized slush fund to anybody.

Demands for a reduction in the number of government employees and the streamlining of government services also are made.

At least three resolutions attack Conservative party officials for what is called their failure to combat effectively Labor party propaganda. These reflect concern caused by the obvious decline in the party's popularity since it was voted into office last October.

Conservative party officials last night disclosed some of the 180 resolutions that will be debated at the four-day annual party conference that opens at Scarborough Oct. 8. From this agenda the party will formulate its policy planks for the coming year.

Among the resolutions are demands for a "much greater sense of urgency and more evidence of a fighting spirit on the part of Conservative supporters throughout the country if Britain is to be saved from the ultimate fate of becoming a Socialist state."

Others criticize Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government for failure to reduce the "intolerable burden of administrative expenditure — therefore of taxation — in tive quality that gives this house a charm all its own. Typical of the ranch style design is the abundance of windows throughout "The Bentley." Note especially the three windowed bay in the front wall of the dining room; the strong decorative appeal of this window arrangement, which is steadily gaining popularity with new home builders, greatly enhances the over-all appearance of the house.

In the house selected as an illustration, the landscaping was carefully planned so it would bring out the fine architectural qualities of this handsome ranch design. You, too, can do the same when you build "The Bentley." You can use window boxes and blinds to good advantage, also, to bring out the innate charms of this house; just about any color can be used for the exterior finish, but if you'd like to obtain a novel effect that would at the same time be in harmony with the style of your home, use old fashioned barn-red.

Three spacious well lighted and ventilated bedrooms, all located at the back of the house, provide a generous amount of sleeping space for the family living in "The Bentley." Thus, this house would be especially suitable for a family with children. The middle bedroom could, however serve with equal ease as a guest room or den, if you only need two regular bedrooms.

Perfectly in step with the latest in home planning developments is the location of the kitchen in the front part of "The Bentley" facing the front yard. Six windows provide a generous amount of light for the cozy little breakfast area located in the left front corner of the kitchen.

Opening off the kitchen, the laundry has doors leading to both the front and back yards. In the back section of this room is an extra lavatory that the busy housewife will find especially convenient when she's working in the kitchen or laundry. And, since it's right beside the door to the back yard, this lavatory will also be handy for your youngsters and their pals.

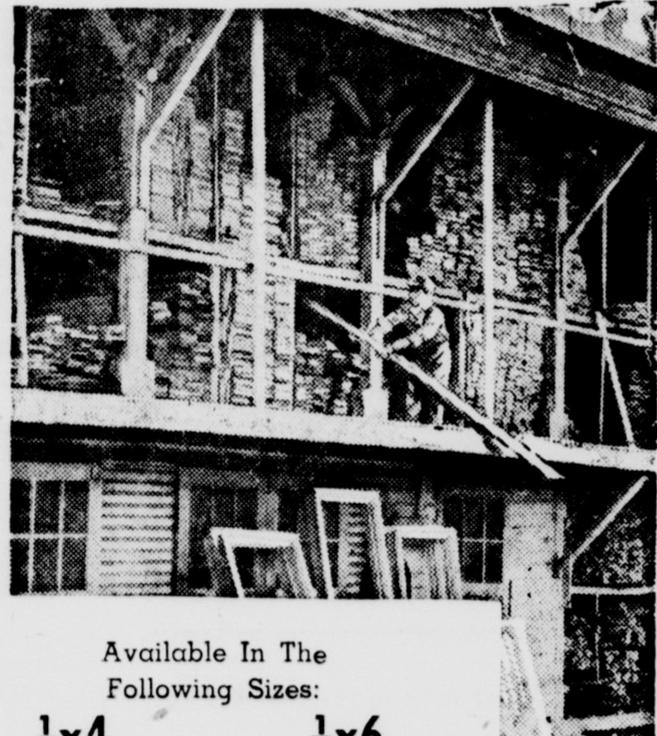

Large enough to hold two cars, the garage is, architecturally speaking, a part of the house. To further carry out this illusion the use of curtains and shutters is suggested on the two double windows in the front wall of the garage. If your family has but one car you'll find the extra garage space provides a welcome storage area.

"The Bentley" can be built in stages if you so desire. First section would be the house proper which measures 50'x32'—and then the wing, consisting of the garage and laundry and measuring 31'x21'. Total length of the house is 81 feet, so that if you decide to build in stages be sure to obtain at least a 100 foot lot before any building is begun.

For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 15, Daily Press and enclose a self addressed, 3 cent stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Observance of Catholic Bible Week Will Begin Sunday

Observance of Catholic Bible Week, Sept. 28-Oct. 5, marking the 500th anniversary of the first printing of the Bible by John Gutenberg, a Franciscan tertiary, in 1452, will be held in Escanaba, it was announced today.

The local observance will include programs in the parochial schools designed to point up the Bible's cultural and religious contribution to the world and a special window display at the Juetten Photo Shop, sponsored by the Escanaba Deanery of the Marquette Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. The display is in charge of Mrs. Stanley S. Venne and Mrs. John Anthony.

Sermon on Subject

The first printing of the Bible followed centuries of copies made by hand in the monasteries of Europe. A special stamp commemorating the historic event is being issued by the government. Thirteen copies of the first Gutenberg edition still are extant in the United States, located in various libraries.

Sermons this Sunday at all the Catholic churches will be on the Bible, and special pamphlets explaining and encouraging the reading of the Scriptures will be available. In recognition of God's authorship of the Bible, the Church grants an indulgence of 300 days to all Catholics who read the Holy Scripture for fifteen minutes daily.

Tuesday, Sept. 30, the feast of St. Jerome (d. 420 A.D.) will be specially celebrated, since it was he who translated the Bible into Latin from the original Aramaic (Old Testament) and Greek (New Testament) in which it was first written. It was this Latin translation of St. Jerome, called the "Vulgate" or common edition of the Bible, which was printed by Gutenberg in 1452.

Reading of Bible Urged

Also being celebrated is the publication this week of the first eight books of the Old Testament, translated into modern-day English directly from the original Aramaic. This work is being done under the auspices of the Bishops of the U.S. by the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. The remainder of the Old Testament will be published as work progresses. A similar up-to-date translation of the New Testament was issued by the Confraternity in 1941.

The publication of the first segment of the modernized Old Testament translation and the observance of the Catholic Bible Week in the U.S. has received special acknowledgment and blessing from Pope Pius XII. In a Pontifical Letter addressed recently to Bishop Edwin O'Hara of Kansas City, chairman of the Confraternity, the Pope stated: "Against the dangers of disillusionment and despair at the failure of worldly remedies in the present crisis affecting all of mankind, there ever remains a shining beacon, a sure source of hope and solace in the unchanging inspiration of the Word of God. That the faithful of the United States will give themselves in increasing numbers to a more frequent reading of the Bible and draw from meditation upon its eternal truths spiritual light and strength for the salvation of their souls, is our fervent and confident trust...."

Freely a wife reacts exactly the same way. She stays with a man she no longer loves for the sake of her child. And, like the man, she is unhappy and frustrated because she is doing something she does not want to do. Such a home cannot be happy for a child.

The marriage should be saved before there is a child. Send your daughter to a marriage counselor, her minister, or her doctor for professional advice on the problems that are spoiling her marriage. Then, when she and her husband are sure that they want to remain together, they can think of starting a family.

If she should become pregnant before they reach an agreement, this should be an added incentive to straighten things out as quickly as possible. No child should be brought into a home where his parents are at swords' points and where his presence makes them feel bound to a life they don't want.

Janet Blair Understudy Snap In Show Business

By JAMES BACON
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD — One of the easiest jobs in show business undoubtedly is understudy to Janet Blair in the road company of "South Pacific."

Janet this week celebrates her 1,000th performance without a miss as Ens. Nellie Forbush. Considering that she is pneumonia-bait every time she washes her hair during the show, that's quite a record.

Travels By Auto

I asked her how she liked seeing the country city by city. "God is testing me," she says. "There's no one who hates to travel more than I. I love visiting the various cities and meeting the people but I detest the constant packing and unpacking."

She used to travel by train but now makes it by car.

"Believe me, I know every filling station restroom in the nation!"

Rodgers and Hammerstein tell her she can stay with the show for 10 years. They expect it to tour that long. The road company makes millions more than the Broadway version, often playing auditoriums filled with 5,000 people. Janet doesn't think she will play the show that long, though. She'd like to get back in pictures, and she admits to a few nibbles during the run of the show here.

Always Too Young

"I gave up pictures," she says, "because I was always getting parts where I'd be the girl who said 'Oh, Red' in a Red Skelton picture."

She tried for heavier roles but always got the stock answer. Too young or too much the all-American girl type. Then she went back to Broadway to test for the lead in Irving Berlin's "Miss Liberty." At the audition the producers

MRS. EDWARD J. FLYNN who was married in St. Philomena's Church in Peoria, Ill., is the former Betty Ruth Dunton, daughter of the Lloyd A. Duntons of Peoria. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flynn of Harrisburg.

Having A Child Will Not Necessarily Save Marriage

By ELIZABETH B. HURLICK, PH.D.
A common fallacy is the belief that a failing marriage can be saved by having a child. The mother of this young wife is heading her daughter for trouble:

(Q) "My daughter has been married for two years. At first she and her husband were very much in love, but lately things have not been going so well between them. I am afraid that unless something is done soon, the marriage will break up. I have been urging my daughter to have a baby, as this usually saves a marriage. Is my advice wrong?"

(A) A child may and frequently does save a marriage. But from every point of view, the price may well be too high.

True, a man may feel that he cannot desert his wife while she is pregnant. Then, when the baby is born, he feels that it is his duty to stay with his wife and help rear their child. From a sense of obligation, he stays in a marriage that is not satisfactory to him.

Freely a wife reacts exactly the same way. She stays with a man she no longer loves for the sake of her child. And, like the man, she is unhappy and frustrated because she is doing something she does not want to do. Such a home cannot be happy for a child.

The marriage should be saved before there is a child. Send your daughter to a marriage counselor, her minister, or her doctor for professional advice on the problems that are spoiling her marriage. Then, when she and her husband are sure that they want to remain together, they can think of starting a family.

If she should become pregnant before they reach an agreement, this should be an added incentive to straighten things out as quickly as possible. No child should be brought into a home where his parents are at swords' points and where his presence makes them feel bound to a life they don't want.

Luella Chouinard Harold Severinsen Exchange Vows

Miss Luella Chouinard, daughter of Mrs. August Chouinard, 1112 3rd Ave. N., became the bride of Harold D. Severinsen of Bark River Rte. 1, in a ceremony at St. Ann's Chapel at 9 a.m. today. The vows were spoken before the Rev. Clifford Nadeau who offered the nuptial high mass at an altar adorned with bouquets of mixed fall flowers.

The bride wore a gown of heavy white slipper satin of colonial style, designed with a nylon V shaped yoke edged with colonial lace and a hoop skirt, with three tiers of colonial lace which extended into the cathedral train. Her veil of imported French illusion was secured by a colonial headpiece of lace edged with seed pearls. Her jewelry, a strand of pearls, was the bridegroom's gift. She carried a cascade of white pompons and red roses with white satin streamers.

Miss Patricia Rowley of Detroit was her maid of honor and Mrs. William Severinsen was bridesmaid. The maid of honor wore blue satin with a matching head-dress and the bridesmaid was in deep gold satin. They carried yellow and bronze mums.

Afternoon Reception

Richard Chouinard, brother of the bride, was best man for Mr. Severinsen, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. August Severinsen. William Severinsen, a brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and ushers were Donald Belanger and Ronald Herbert Severinsen.

Mrs. Chouinard wore a two piece maroon dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was white pompons. Mrs. Severinsen wore a blue suit with gray accessories and a corsage of bronze and yellow pompons.

Donald Belanger was soloist of the mass and the traditional bridal music was played by Miss Bernadette Cossette, organist.

A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home and a dinner for 50 guests at noon at the Chick'n Shack. The wedding reception for 300 guests is being held from 3 to 7 at the Flat Rock Town Hall and will be followed by a wedding dance.

Home in Escanaba

The newlyweds will live in Escanaba when they return from their honeymoon. The bridegroom who spent 26 months in the service, 9 months in Korea, is with the Michigan Conservation Department. He is a graduate of Escanaba High School. His bride was employed by the Escanaba Glove Co.

Wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Belanger of Detroit, Mrs. Warren Rowley and daughter Pat at Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chaput, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Zurick and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hein and two children of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Chouinard of East Lansing, Richard Chouinard of Rockford, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chaput of Munising.

If she should become pregnant before they reach an agreement, this should be an added incentive to straighten things out as quickly as possible. No child should be brought into a home where his parents are at swords' points and where his presence makes them feel bound to a life they don't want.

Personals

Miss Anna Mae Loveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford B. Loveland, 515 2nd Ave. S., has left for Denver, Colo., where she will enroll in the School of Social Work of the University of Denver for graduate study. Miss Loveland has been employed in social work in Peoria, Ill., the past two years.

Charles Neumeier Jr. has returned to his studies at Michigan State College, East Lansing, where he is beginning his senior year, following a summer vacation at the home of his parents, the senior Charles Neumeier, and Mr. and Mrs. S. 16th St.

Mrs. Lillian LaFave, 517 S. 8th St., is leaving Monday for an extended vacation in California. She will visit her sister, Mrs. Les Crist and her brother, Earl Raiche of Los Angeles. Later she will go to Texas for a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmideler of Dallas and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John C. LaFave who live in Houston.

Janet, in desperation yelled into the phone: "But I can wear bangs." "Sorry."

Next came a call from Hollywood for a Bing Crosby movie. Although it had only been months since she had been told she was too young, she was turned down for the Crosby part because someone decreed she was too old for the part.

Gambles Bankroll

At a theatrical crisis in her life, she gambled her whole bankroll and created her night club act with the Blackburn twins. It went over and led to her success in "South Pacific."

Does she ever suffer from comparison with Mary Martin, who created the role?

Mary Marin is Nellie Forbush so I was bound to be compared with her at first. Then, too, we are somewhat alike in personality. But after a few shows I decided to stamp my own personality on the part. Where the Little Rock characterization was a natural for Mary, it rang phoney for me. I gave the role an Altoona, Pa., interpretation and everything has been fine since."

To simplify care of venetian blinds, try waxing each slat before they are hung. Let the wax harden for half an hour and you have an easy-to-care-for surface. Use Michigan State College home economists.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ketola of Seney announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne, to James Boggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Niemi. Both young people are graduates of Newberry High School and at present are employed in Racine, Wis. The date of the wedding has not been set.

Men Edge Timidly Toward New Look With Fitted Coat

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The men, bless 'em, are taking a timid step toward a "new look."

It's called the Edwardian look, and it consists of a fitted, high-buttoned coat with cuffs on the sleeves and no cuffs on the trousers. More daring Brummells do it up brown with a brocaded waistcoat.

This thing, of course, was bound to come, after the so-called casual look reached such proportions right after World War II that you couldn't tell whether a man was wearing a business suit or his pajamas.

In For Rough Going

A wedding supper will be served at 5 p.m. at the Dells for the bridal party and immediate family members and a reception with dancing is being held for 300 guests at the Knights of Columbus club rooms.

The young people will spend their honeymoon at Denver, Colo., and Sun Valley, Idaho.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba High School and her husband is a Gladstone High School graduate.

Wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Ruckman Sr., Streator, Ill., Mrs. Wilbert Wagner, Baltimore, Md., an aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Carlson, South Milwaukee, Gilbert Ruckman Jr., Streator, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Drugas of Flint, uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Terrian Sr., of Waukegan, Ill., brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Terrian Jr., Waukegan, Axel Anderson Jr., Marquette, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Trudeau, Mr. and Mrs. Art Bergeron, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bergeron and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Trudeau, Gladstone, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Richie, Flat Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miron, Cornell and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson, Soo Hill.

The high buttoned look seems to be edging toward a national fashion."

Ackerman, a genial gent whose business is to keep two jumps ahead of clothing trends, says you can see Edwardian suits on college campuses from Princeton to Wisconsin this year, and by next year you'll be seeing it generally over the country.

So it looks as if Pop is going to have to spruce up soon, and stop looking like head man at a hobo convention. It may be a wrench to part with those low-necked shirts with collars reaching to the solar plexus and those ties wired for sound. The dropping slacks and baggy sports coat will have to go back to their rightful place in the country.

Thus far the experts are divided in their predictions of how far the trend will go. Some call it "freakish, foolish and fantastic" and others maintain it has to come, unless American men want to continue looking like unmade beds.

Patricia Stone Is the Bride of Lawrence Trudeau

Father Matt LaViolette performed the ceremony at high noon today at All Saints' Catholic Church in Gladstone at which Miss Patricia Corinne Stone, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Stone, 218 N. 12th St., Escanaba, and Lawrence Joseph Trudeau, a son of Mrs. Mary Trudeau, 1408 Lake Shore, Gladstone, spoke their marriage vows.

Bouquets of gladioli of varied shades decorated the altar for the double ring service.

All White Wedding

The bride's gown of white slipper satin with its cathedral train was trimmed with imported Chantilly lace which extended from the bodice in scalloped applied panels on the skirt. Nylon tulle formed the shirred yoke. Her veil of illusion was fingertip length, trimmed with lace and caught to a white skull cap. She carried bouquets of white pompons and pink roses with white satin snow-stems.

The program will include colored slides on home decorating, pictures taken in farm homes through the country. Mrs. Edwin Bergman of Bark River, county chairman, will give a report on the Homemakers' Conference in East Lansing which she attended.

A discussion will be held on the proposed home nursing classes.

All homemakers of the county are invited to attend.

Police Hold Man In Local Thefts

A tip-off by the Manistique State Police brought about the arrest in Newberry yesterday of Grufedd G. Roberts of Pittsfield, Mass., after the man allegedly committed a pair of crafty lunch hour burglaries in two Manistique shops.

When Newberry police arrested the man they found in his car the merchandise missing from the local business houses in addition to a carful of rifles, shotguns, shells, one pistol and numerous other "stolen goods."

Two Cameras Missing

Manistique troopers alerted the Newberry post after receiving a report from Vern Linderoth that two cameras were removed from his Cedar street shop during the time that Roberts was in the store.

The theft was discovered when Harold Bradley, co-owner of the store, came into the front of the shop after wrapping an overseas package for the "customer" in the rear room. Value of the cameras was estimated at $400.

An earlier theft was subsequently discovered by the proprietor of another shop in the Manistique business area, allegedly to have been committed by the same man.

Grand Larceny Charged

Theodore Hentschell, owner of the Top O' Lake Sporting Shop, told State Police that Roberts exchanged a film pack for a roll of film in the store. Hentschell later detected that the film pack was one removed that day from stock in the store.

Arresting officers have linked Roberts to thefts committed previously in Marinette, Peshtigo and Escanaba.

Police here have issued a warrant against the man charging him with grand larceny. It is expected he will be brought back for trial in Schoolcraft county.

Also on schedule for the evening is the initiation of five new members into the lodge, according to exalted ruler Fred Hahne.

Plans are now being made at the club for the annual bowling banquet to be held Oct. 8. Committees to take care of the arrangements will be announced next week by banquet chairman Carl Carlson.

During the evening the group enjoyed dancing and a social hour.

A birthday lunch followed with a decorated birthday cake centering the table.

Howard Hughes Will Loan RKO 8 Million

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Howard Hughes says he has eight million dollars to loan RKO Pictures Corp. in which he sold his controlling interest. All the new corporation officials must do is ask for it.

Hughes sold his 30 per cent interest, or 1,013,420 shares of stock at $7 a share, to a syndicate headed by Ralph Stolkin, 34, Chicago mail order millionaire. The sale was announced Tuesday.

Hughes said through a spokesman:

"As part of the sales agreement with the Stolkin syndicate, Howard Hughes agreed that if he is called upon by RKO Pictures, Inc., he will loan RKO eight million dollars."

Decline In Enrollment In Rural Schools Noted

Fewer children are enrolled in Schoolcraft county rural schools this year than were in attendance last year, it was revealed Friday in a census and enrollment report compiled by the county superintendent of schools.

The decrease is comparatively slight, only 26 fewer students, but of some significance due to the fact that in most schools throughout the country the enrollment was swelled this year by the entrance into kindergarten of the nation's "war babies."

Enrollment Now 818

A total of 818 students are in township schools now compared to 844 in 1951.

Kindergarten enrollment in the townships remained constant at 93 for both 1951 and 1952.

The largest drop was noted in Inwood township where 236 students are now in classes compared to 270 in 1951.

The report covers children in the classes from kindergarten to 8th Grade in township schools and the high school grades of Cooks High School.

Enrollment figures for 1952 in the townships, as reported by Beda Hough, superintendent of schools, follows: Inwood, 236; Doyle, 110; Germfask, 130; Hiawatha, 86; Manistique township, 185; Mueller, 113; Seney, 88; and Thompson, 58, making a total of 1,207 school age and pre-school age children in Schoolcraft county.

The breakdown into component grades: Kindergarten, 93; First,

Second, 59; Third, 98; Fourth, 76; Fifth, 76; Sixth, 96; Seventh, 84; Eighth, 51; and in Cooks High School—Ninth, 33; Tenth, 28; Eleventh, 21; Twelfth, 18.

Census Figure Down

Also included in the superintendent's report were school census figures for the current year. The school census includes all children enrolled in classes and children of preschool age. Comparative figures here also indicate a decrease from last year's census. There are nine fewer children in the townships from the age of one month to the 6th Grade age group.

School census figures by township: Doyle, 178; Germfask, 215; Hiawatha, 163; Inwood, 207; Manistique township, 185; Mueller, 113; Seney, 88; and Thompson, 58.

Among points to be discussed at the meeting are whether to rebuild the former large ski jump on old US-2 northeast of the city, whether to retain the club's membership in the national Central Ski Association, and whether to operate the ski tow in Central Park on a pay-as-you-go basis or have it subsidized and operated by the recreation board.

Invitation cards have been mailed by Reque to the 1951 membership roster of the Arrowhead Ski Jumpers Club and members' parents. The recreation director also voiced an invitation to any and all persons interested in the reorganization of the club to attend.

The recreation board is fostering the reorganization of the group until it becomes active again.

The group will perform in five Upper Peninsula cities from Oct. 20 to 23 and appear here between its engagements in Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie.

The performance hall for the concert here will be announced later.

In their tour of Lower Michigan, the quartet will give public concerts in five cities from Oct. 3 to Jan. 9, performing in two of the cities twice during the tour, according to first violinist of the group, Prof. Gilbert Ross.

Other members of the quartet are Emil Raab, second violin; Oliver Edel, cello; and Robert Courte, viola.

Culminating their far-flung activities this season, the quartet will play in Washington, D. C., on Jan. 16 in the Chamber Music Series of the Library of Congress. On this occasion, they will introduce the Sixth String Quartet of Ross Lee Finney, professor of composition and composer in residence at the University.

The Upper Peninsula cities where the quartet will appear in concert are Crystal Falls, Marquette, Escanaba, Manistique and the Soo.

Manistique Belts Newberry 19-0; Fourth Straight Win

MANISTIQUE — A smashing, aggressive, not-to-be-denied Manistique grid team chalked up its fourth win in a row under home lights last night by blanking to the tune of 19-0 the valiant but overpowered Newberry Indians before a sell-out stadium.

Sparked by brilliant running by halfback Bob McNamara, the Emeralds rushed and passed in champion fashion which the Indians found hard to hamper.

It was Coach Dick Bonifas grididers third shut-out of the season.

McNamara, Cummings Star

For the victory, top honors go to Captain McNamara, to guard Orville Erickson for a sensational 80-yard run that brought the first tally, to halfback Ray Cummings for consistently superior ball-carrying and on-the-target passing, to halfback Bill Holms for valuable defensive tackling, and to end Fritz Laurion for sensational pass receiving.

The game looked to be neatly in the pockets of the Emeralds three-quarters of the way through the second quarter when they scored a psychological advantage over the Indians with their second touchdown following a costly Indian fumble. From then on the game became a defensive stand for the Newberry crew.

Little Indian Threat

The Indians threatened the Manistique goal line only once and that time lost the ball on downs to the Emeralds on the 1-yard stripe. The feel of pay dirt was never again near their grasp.

Getting the ball from Newberry on a fourth down punt late in the second quarter, the Emeralds drew first blood when Orville Erickson raced a marathon from the Manistique 21-yard line to the Indians' goal posts. An attempt to run the extra point failed and Manistique led 6-0.

Fresh after that tally the Emeralds recovered a Newberry fumble on the Indians' 39. A pass from McNamara to Cummings brought the ball to the Newberry 3-yard line from where fullback Earl Johnson plunged over for the counter that seemed to clinch the game. Cummings' kick for the point was wide of the uprights

Cummings Scores

The final TD came early in the third period when the Emeralds, receiving the kick-off on their 30-yard line, set a sustained drive to the Indians' 5. Cummings took the ball around end and scampered to pay dirt for the kick was good and Manistique saw itself in the safe lead of 19-0 which lasted through a scoreless final quarter.

Although the Emeralds came out on the long end, all the stars weren't on the Manistique squad. Indian mentor Joe Kodba can hand out a few medals to M. Stokes, L. Zandi, J. Shimmens, H. Ketola, D. Brennan, and co-captains Johnson and Ferris for their individual fine playing which harassed the Emeralds and held them in check on many plays.

Robert Northey and his crew from Negauke officiated.

Menominee May Start Team Of Ten Seniors Against Esky Tonight

The Menominee Maroons will likely throw a starting lineup of 10 seniors and one junior at the Escanaba Eskymos when the two teams clash at 8:30 (EST) at Walton Blesch Field tonight.

The Eskymos are in top physical condition for the clash which renews the oldest Upper Peninsula grid rivalry. Escanaba and Menominee teams began their long series of games in 1897.

Escanaba concentrated on pass defense the past week, preparing for the Maroon passing game which produced all three touchdowns against Green Bay.

In previous starts this season the Eskymos lost to Soo 7-6 and tied Ironwood 0-0.

Win Over Trenary Sunday Will Give Cards Loop Crown

MANISTIQUE—Largest baseball crowd of the season is expected here tomorrow afternoon when the Manistique Cardinals face Trenary in the second game of the Bay de Noe League championship playoff series.

Manager Fred Lesica will send ace hurler Don Carlson against Trenary as the Cards seek to end the best two of three series with their second straight win. Manistique topped Trenary in the series opened at Trenary last Sunday.

George Brown, crafty left-hander, will be on the Trenary mound tomorrow afternoon. The Cardinals will be at full strength with regulars at all positions.

Baseball's Little World Series Opens

KANSAS CITY (P)—The 36th annual edition of baseball's "Little World Series" gets underway here last start two weeks ago.

Esky Starters

Eskymo starters will be Bill Pelton and Tom Gregorie at ends, John Peterson and George Peterson at tackles, Bob Monson and Paul Davidson at guards. John Trotter at center, Fred Boddy at quarterback.

Last week, Muskegon downed Lansing Sexton, 7-6, in the wanning minutes of a hotly contested clash.

Tackle Jim Kelly's educated toe proved the difference in Friday's encounter with Flint Central. Fullback Lacey Barnard who scored one Central touchdown missed one of two conversion attempts following a touchdown by quarterback Peaks.

Flint Central led 13-0 going into the final period only to see Muskegon score twice on a pass from Harry Voss to Leland Kelly and three passes to end Bill David.

In other Friday night games, Morenci High, holder of the state record for consecutive unbeaten games, rolled to its 36th win downing Clinton, 10-0.

Saginaw took the measure of Detroit Catholic Central, 14-6; powerful Ann Arbor swamped Bay City Hand, 32-0; Grand Rapids South trounced St. Joseph, 24-4 and Grand Haven stopped Benton Harbor 19-12.

Could Use Pitcher

Certainly the Tigers could use any of Pitchers Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia, Early Wynn or Bob Feller. But, a fan wanted to know, who could the Tigers use to get any one of them except enough cash to fill Briggs Stadium to the rim?

The Indians and the Tigers finish out the season with games here today and Sunday. Virgil Trucks was slated to oppose Mike Garcia or Early Wynn today.

Fans Interested

But fans appeared to be generating more interest in a possible trade than in the game. For one thing, one wanted to know who the Tigers had that Cleveland might be interested in.

Muskegon Wins By 14-13 Edge

Muskegon's High's powerful prep grid squad continued to pace state Class A school's into the third week but were hard put to maintain their unbeaten streak of ten games. Friday night they nosed out Flint Central, 14-13, in the last 15 seconds of a game witnessed by 9,500 fans at Muskegon.

Against this veteran lineup the Eskymos will pit a revised squad that has five new faces from the team which faced Ironwood in its last start two weeks ago.

Trojans Upset St. Norbert 14-13

Tossing off their underdog role, the St. Joe Trojans stood toe-to-toe and slugged out a 14-13 decision over St. Norbert of DePere, Wis., before a screaming crowd at Memorial Field last night.

The favored St. Norbert gridsters fired a heavy air barrage at the Trojans but St. Joe countered with a devastating ground attack to post their second straight gridiron victory.

A packed stand saw one of the roughest, toughest football battles ever played on the Trojan field as St. Joe notched its first win in history over the Wisconsin school. Line play was close and rugged inside while tackling was vicious.

Before filling the air with passes, St. Norbert tested the Trojan ground defense and found it impregnable. Trojan defensive standouts were center Tom Brien, fullback John Martinac and defensive Gary Guertin.

Quick Touchdowns

St. Joe battered to a touchdown the first time the Trojans got their hands on the ball and St. Norbert did likewise to knot the score 7-7 in the first period.

Neither team scored in the second quarter. St. Joe dented St. Norbert's goal line again in the third period. The visitors raced the clock to a fourth quarter TD, but were stymied on the extra point try to provide the Trojans with their one-point margin of victory.

Leroy Villeneuve, Trojan freshman, booted both extra points which decided the game. St. Norbert kicked its extra point after the first TD and attempted to pass for the second.

St. Joe received the opening kickoff on its own 37. A sleeper pass may have missed its mark with halfback Bob Sendenburgh in the clear. Martinac's pass was short. Six plays later St. Joe hit the end zone.

Beat Athletics 5-2

Yanks Win Flag

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
World Series foes, for the first time in five years, will be well rested when the 1952 classic opens in Brooklyn next Wednesday.

The New York Yankees made that certain last night when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 5-2 in 11 innings to clinch their fourth straight American League flag and their 19th in the last 32 years. The Dodgers have been taking things easy since Tuesday when they nailed down the National League pennant.

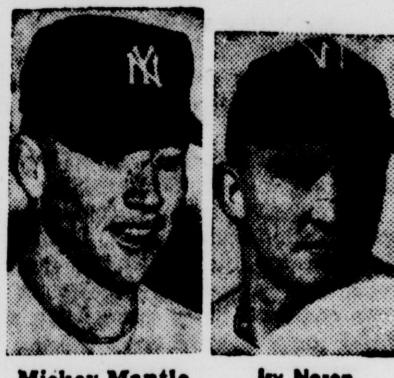

Not since 1947 when the Yanks and Dodgers breezed home have pennant races in both leagues been decided before the final bell.

Last year the Dodgers and New York Giants wound up the regular season tied for top honors and the miracle Giants went on to cop a best out of three playoff series to win the pennant. In 1950 Philadelphia clinched the National League pennant on the final day of the season.

Playoff In 1948

In 1949 both the Yanks and Dodgers won their pennants on the final day of the season. In 1948 Cleveland captured the American League pennant by beating Boston in a one game "sudden death" playoff for the title.

The Yanks tied a rare record in bagging their fourth straight championship. Only other teams to won four consecutive championships were John McGraw's Giants of 1921-24 and Joe McCarthy's Yanks of 1936-1939.

Billy Martin was the man of the hour for the Yanks. The scrappy infielder singled with the bases loaded and two out in the 11th to break a 2-2 tie that enabled the Yanks to take the marbles. A third run scored on an error.

The triumph gave the Yanks a three-game lead over the runner-up Indians and made it impossible for the Tribe to overhaul the Bombers as both teams have only two games left to play.

Home runs accounted for the game's other runs. Irv Noren and Mickey Mantle connected for the Yanks off Harry Byrd, the A's strong-armed rookie righthander. Gus Zernial drove in both Philadelphia runs with a four-bagger off Ed Lopat in the sixth inning.

Lopat was in hot water throughout the game, yielding 11 hits until he was relieved by Johnny Sain with two out in the ninth. Brilliant fielding, especially by Phil Rizzuto and Noren saved Lopat's hide.

In the only other American League games, Rookie Hershel Freeman pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 3-1 victory over Washington and Saul Rogovin hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 6-2, two-hit triumph over St. Louis.

The Dodgers tuned up for the series by beating the Boston Braves, 8-4. The Brooks used most of their scrubs but the lone regular who played the entire game, Billy Cox, had a big hand in the victory. Cox knocked in three runs on a homer and single.

In other National League games, the Giants trounced Philadelphia, 8-0, Cincinnati downed Pittsburgh, 5-3, and St. Louis swamped Chicago, 10-3.

Sal Maglie gained his 18th victory for the Giants, although he was relieved by Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth. Home runs by Al Dark, Don Mueller and Whitey Lockman featured the Giant attack.

Gerry Staley breezed to his 17th victory as the Cards clinched third place. Stan Musial belted a homer and single and increased his batting lead to seven points over the Cubs' Frank Baumholtz. Baumholtz collected one hit in four trips.

Army Grudge Fight Starts Marciano On Fistic Road

Editor's Note: The following is the third and last in a series of articles on Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano.

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (P)—A grudge fight with a camp bully and a defeat in an "amateur" bout started Rocky Marciano on the way to the heavyweight championship.

The path to the golden throne began in Wales in 1945 while Rocky was serving overseas with the 150th Combat Engineers. Some of his Army buddies complained to good natured Rocky about a big Texan who was throwing his weight around in camp.

"This guy was making things unpleasant for a lot of the boys," he said Rocky the other night at a victory dinner. "He was roughing them up, stealing their girls, and was a real loose. The boys kept asking me to take him on and give him a lesson."

No, I wasn't boxing then. But I had a reputation of being a tough guy because I was pretty rough in football and in the baseball games. I also had some sessions with three wrestlers who tried to pin me and couldn't.

Best Bully
Finally I agreed to fight this guy. It was on a Saturday afternoon. I think. The boys formed a circle, and we put on the gloves. I stopped him in two rounds. He quit while he was on the ground.

He stopped bothering the fellows."

When he returned to the States, Rocky was shipped to Ft. Lewis in Washington. He began fooling around with the gloves. About three months before he was due for his discharge, he received a furlough.

"It just happened that when I got to Brockton an amateur show was being put on there," said Rocky. "I asked the promoter to get me a fight as I needed some dough. I was a hometown boy with a lot of friends from my football and baseball days, and so he gave me a semifinal. I got $25, and I lost the decision."

Rocky went back to Ft. Lewis and took up boxing in earnest. He continued as a successful amateur until '48 when he persuaded Manager Al Weill to guide his ring future.

Respect Punch

Weill, a shrewd judge of fighters and boxers' styles, didn't think much of the crude youngster at first. The Brockton boy's wallops finally convinced the portly manager and trainer Charley Goldman that it was worth wasting a little time with the eager, solidly built New Englander.

They booked Rocky for five nights in Providence, R. I.—all of which he won by quick knockouts—before they saw him in action in a regular bout. Rocky ran his koy streak to 15 before he was forced to go 10 to outpoint Don Mogard, a clutch and run fighter who was out to go the limit.

Win after win followed. Some were over inept punching bags to build up Rocky's reputation and confidence, and some were over name fighters who were over the hill.

The narrow decision victory over classy Roland La Starza in 1950 moved him into the topflight. The rest is history. Rex Layne... Joe Louis... Lee Savold... Gina Buonvino... Bernie Reynolds... the ballyhooed Harry (Kid) Matthews and then Jersey Joe Walcott.

How does it feel to be the champ?

"Great! Gee, great! I can tell you how much," said Rocky.

It couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

Southern Cal Wallops Northwestern By 31-0

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (P)—The 1952 college football season comes of age today. All of the nation's power houses, headed by top ranked Michigan State, join with the lesser lights of the gridiron in the first big Saturday of the new campaign.

From the rock bound coast of Maine to the sunny climes of Florida and California there will be pigskins in the air.

And for those unable to get to a gridiron there will be the nationwide telecast of the Ivy League encounter in New York between Princeton, boasting the nation's longest major winning streak of 22 straight, and the thinly-manned but often dangerous Columbia. This is the second of 11 telecasts sponsored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The NCAA also granted permission for televising of the Penn-Notre Dame game in the Philadelphia area and the Michigan State-Michigan contest in the Detroit sector.

Wildcats Walloped

The intersectional hue in today's schedule was started last night when Southern California smothered Northwestern, 31-0 for the Trojans' second straight victory. It was close until the last quarter when the Trojans exploded for four touchdowns.

In another intersectional fray Duke scored in the last five seconds to beat Southern Methodist, 14-7. The TD climaxed an 80-yard drive.

Syracuse whipped Boston University, 34-21; Boston College nipped Richmond 14-7; Miami (Fla.) walloped Virginia Military 45-0, and Detroit took Wichita 22-7 in other night games.

It's difficult to pick the top games on today's schedule. It largely depends on where you live and for whom you are rooting.

Michigan State's Spartans go after their third straight over Michigan of the Big 10. That has happened only once since 1898. The Spartans are favored but the Wolverines should test what many consider a better Michigan State than last year's undefeated outfit.

California, one of the favorites to represent the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl, takes Missouri's Tigers, who almost upset second ranked Maryland last Saturday. Maryland, perhaps not quite as cocky, meets Auburn.

Gopher Opener

In addition to the California-Missouri tussle, the West Coast offers such attractions as Texas Christian-UCLA, Minnesota-Washington and Nebraska-Oregon. The only conference game matches Stanford and Washington State.

The Midwest presents Indiana-Ohio State, Iowa State-Illinois, Marquette-Wisconsin and Kansas State-Cincinnati.

In the Southwest and in the Rocky Mountain area there are Oklahoma-Colorado (a Big Seven Conference game), Montana-Wyoming, New Mexico-Bingham Young, Texas Tech-Rice, Houston-Arkansas and Hardin-Simmons-Tulsa.

Eastern games include such attractive outings as Holy Cross-Yale-Navy.

Georgia Tech's Engineers, third ranking team in the nation, lets loose a flock of fleet backs against Florida in the South's No. 1 game. Also on the program are Georgia-Tulane, Alabama-Louisiana State, Mississippi-Kentucky, Mississippi-Tennessee and Wake Forest-William and Mary.

Nixon Plugs For Ike In Lone Star State

AMARILLO (AP)—The Republican vice-presidential candidate Richard Nixon last night urged Texas Democrats to throw their support behind Texas-born Dwight Eisenhower to save the Lone Star State's tidelands and to "clean up the mess in Washington."

"I do not believe that Texas

Democrats are Truman Democrats," he told approximately 5,000 persons at the Tri-State Fair Grounds. "Texans are fighters. Texans are independents. And if you want a fighting man, an independent man who will clean up the mess in Washington, vote for a fighter, a Texas-born fighter, Dwight Eisenhower."

The California senator hit hard at the tidelands issue in his blasts against the Democratic administration.

"The effort of the administration to take the tidelands away from California and Texas is an outright, downright theft, he declared. "And if you want to save your Texas tidelands, vote for Dwight Eisenhower."

Nixon lashed at the administration on four counts—foreign policy, handling of Communists in government, "corruption in Washington" and "the tidelands steal."

The blame for the Korean War rests squarely upon the present administration, Nixon said, because the State Department aided in letting China fall to the Communists. Because of the failure of the administration's foreign policy the communistic world now has a 5 to 3 edge over the free world, he declared.

Nixon said that at the end of World War II the odds were 9 to 1 in favor of the United States and its allies.

The attack on Kennan is so bitter that according to normal diplomatic conduct it would inevitably mean he would be declared personally unacceptable, leaving the United States no choice but to withdraw him.

Should he have to be withdrawn under such a Soviet demand now, the belief of responsible officials here is that the post would remain vacant and the embassy at Moscow be run by a diplomat of lesser rank until, at least, a new president takes office here. Whether a successor would then be appointed would depend on the new administration.

Enrollment Picks Up At Michigan State

LANSING (AP)—The downward trend in enrollment at Michigan State College has been checked for the first time in three years. Registrar Robert S. Linton said today.

Registrations for the fall term totaled 13,209 at the end of the official enrollment period yesterday. The total included 8,777 men, 1,068 of them veterans, and 4,428 women.

The late registration of an additional 550 students is expected to bring the fall total to around 13,759 above last year's figure of 13,593.

Ship Blown To Bits Near Boiling Volcano Off Japanese Coast

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese coast guard said tonight it had definitely decided that a scientific observation ship with 31 Japanese aboard had been blown to bits near the scene of a boiling undersea volcano.

The ship has been missing since Tuesday. There were nine scientists and 22 crewmen aboard.

The scientists were investigating the new volcanic eruption.

Far East Air Force planes and Japanese ships combed the area in vain. One ship spotted bits of wreckage, and today a Japanese patrol boat picked up a buoy off the ill-fated craft.

He had been attacked before he was assigned to the Moscow job but not so bitterly as this.

Yesterday at a news conference, Secretary of State Acheson said he thought the attack wholly unjustified and improper. He added that what Kennan said seemed to him to have been a very calm and accurate description of what life is like in Moscow.

Authorities were uncertain why the Pravda attack should have taken such a violent form. Several speculations were obvious:

1. The Russians may have been looking for an excuse to discredit him as a preliminary to getting him out of the country because they were afraid to have so shrewd an observer of Soviet affairs on the scene.

2. They may have seized upon this as a means of feeding their hate campaign.

3. Perhaps they were seriously upset by criticism which hit too accurately.

Spanish Writer Santayana Dies

ROME (AP)—George Santayana, a leading philosopher and poet, died last night. He was 88.

The noted Spanish writer died in the solitude in which he lived during the final quarter century of his long life.

During the past few years, age had enfeebled and shriveled him.

But his philosopher's mind stayed sharp and alert to the end. His final book and one of the most important, "Dominations and Powers," was completed and published only last year.

Santayana died, surrounded by the books he loved, in his tiny room at the clinic of the Little Company of Mary—British order of nuns known as the "Blue Sisters" because of the pale blue habits they wear.

The clinic, overlooking the ancient Roman Colosseum, had been his home here for the past 25 years.

The famed philosopher was born in Madrid Dec. 16, 1863. Although a Spanish subject to the end, he was thought by many to be an American since he lived in the United States from the time he was nine years old until 1911. Practically his whole life was spent outside Spain.

He attended Brimmer School, Boston Latin School and Harvard University and from 1899 to 1911 was a professor of philosophy at Harvard. He then returned to Europe to lecture at Oxford University, England, and the Sorbonne in France.

Deaths Of Kalamazoo Couple Go Unsolved; strychnine Is Found

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The deaths of Oscar E. Sasteel, 55, and his wife, Cora Josiene, 54, in their Kalamazoo apartment the night of Aug. 11 probably will remain an unsolved mystery.

Police marked the case closed after receiving a report from the crime detection laboratories in Lansing that strichnine had been found in the vital organs of both.

Investigators said, however, they had been unable to determine whether it was a case of double suicide or accidental death.

Casteel was dead when officers, in response to the wife's frantic call for help, arrived at the apartment. She was taken violently ill while they were questioning her and she died 90 minutes after her husband.

Before she lost consciousness, she told officers she and her husband had been drinking wine all evening and discussing his declining health.

Officers quoted her as saying that her husband, just before he died, told her, "I haven't long to live, Cora, but before I go, I'm going to take you along with me."

Enrollment Picks Up At Michigan State

LANSING (AP)—The downward trend in enrollment at Michigan State College has been checked for the first time in three years. Registrar Robert S. Linton said today.

Registrations for the fall term totaled 13,209 at the end of the official enrollment period yesterday. The total included 8,777 men, 1,068 of them veterans, and 4,428 women.

The late registration of an additional 550 students is expected to bring the fall total to around 13,759 above last year's figure of 13,593.

What has happened in the Kennan case is this:

Kennan arrived at Berlin Sept. 19 on his way to a meeting of U. S. ambassadors at London. Reporters who met his plane quoted him as saying contacts between Americans and Russian people in Moscow had been reduced to the zero point. It reminded him he said, of the lack of contact with the German people when after Pearl Harbor he and other U. S. Embassy staff members from Berlin were interned at Bad Nauheim, Germany, for several months. He also commented on certain aspects of Russian life.

Branded Slanderer

Yesterday Pravda, the organ of the Communist party, called Kennan a "slanderer disguised as a diplomat," an enemy of the country and a number of other things, and accused him of conduct unbefitting a diplomat.

He had been attacked before he was assigned to the Moscow job but not so bitterly as this.

Yesterday at a news conference, Secretary of State Acheson said he thought the attack wholly unjustified and improper. He added that what Kennan said seemed to him to have been a very calm and accurate description of what life is like in Moscow.

Authorities were uncertain why the Pravda attack should have taken such a violent form. Several speculations were obvious:

1. The Russians may have been looking for an excuse to discredit him as a preliminary to getting him out of the country because they were afraid to have so shrewd an observer of Soviet affairs on the scene.

2. They may have seized upon this as a means of feeding their hate campaign.

3. Perhaps they were seriously upset by criticism which hit too accurately.

Gold is not gold, either—at least, the unrefined stuff. Mrs. Morelock says that in refining the Mint expects to extract a lot of silver from the gold. Out, too, will come some base metals and such by-products as platinum, palladium and iridium.

There's just one chance to get next to this thing: Mrs. Morelock says the Mint is looking for workers to refine the gold. They'll even get to handle the stuff.

"Under scrutiny, of course" she adds.

Communists Again Charge Butchery Of Red War Prisoners

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The senior Communist armistice delegate today again protested what he called Allied "persecuting and butchering" of Red war prisoners in U. N. stockades.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il complained in a letter to Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U. N. negotiator.

Like previous protests, this one followed by one day the disclosure by the U. N. Command of an incident in its POW camps.

Nam protested injury to nine Red prisoners Thursday in the Cheju island camp off South Korea—disclosed Friday by the U. N. The Allied statement said the nine were hurt—none seriously—as U. N. troops entered a compound to seize three POWs who rushed an Allied supervisor into a barbed wire fence.
